NEPA Task Force Web Site Reports a New Feedback Entry:

Name: Juanita Scroggins

Email Address: juanitas@springmail.com

Comments: The need of NEPA is greater now. I sense there is not many who give a damn about tomorrow. Our nations are too many times run by those only care to line their pockets. We in the states care too much about our BIG CARS and BIG HOUSES, (cars which consume more gas and homes which few habitat). How selfish we are. Please understand individuals have the right to purchase what they want if they can afford it. But where has our reason gone? We care more about showing the world our opulence and not about the air we breathe. We need the forrests more than ever. We need to protect the earth not the developers, the logging companies and all others whose only interest is to line their pockets. I want to afford my children and their children the opportunity to walk amongst our great giants and smell that wonderful pine odor. I want them to have an opportunity to look out on the summit and see the clear blue skies and not the nasty gray fog of smog!!! I believe all can have their wants but one need
