I do not approve of George Bush hacking away yet another enviromental law. It is so strange that a Republican Administration (President Nixon) enacted this law, and yet Acting President George Bush would move to strike such law. And yes, that is George Bush's plan. He promised that he would be an enviromental president, yet he has not done one single thing to prove this. A step in the right direction would be to sign kyoto (SP) treaty. Another step would be to reverse the enviromental damage that Acting President George W. Bush has signed into law. The Acting President should not support logging industry nor should he support drilling in the Artic.

The Acting President should remember that more Americans voted for Al Gore than they did Bush. Acting President George Bush needs to come down from his high horse and he needs to stop destroying the enviroment, and most of all, he needs to stop pretending that he won a landslide in the 2000 election.
